Individual Placement and Support (IPS) supported employment is an evidence-based practice that helps people with mental health conditions work in competitive jobs related to their preferences. Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) is a state/federal program that assists eligible individuals with disabilities in obtaining and maintaining competitive integrated employment related to each person's strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capacities, interests, and informed choice. Individuals who have access to both IPS and VR benefit from the expertise and resources of both systems. This document describes commonalities between the IPS practice principles and the VR system.

IPS Supported Employment	Vocational Rehabilitation
1. Competitive employment is the goal	Competitive Integrated employment
 Minimum wage or higher. Wage and benefits are the same as others in similar jobs Integrated job settings Positions that are open to qualified candidates, regardless of disability status 	 Minimum wage or higher and same as others in similar jobs Integrated job settings Opportunities for advancement Same benefits as others in similar jobs
2. IPS services are integrated with mental health treatment services	Identification of needed service providers and supports
 Mental health practitioners & IPS specialists meet weekly IPS specialists collaborate with VR counselors, family/friends (with person's permission) 	 VR counselors help identify comprehensive support services for people holding competitive jobs VR counselors help remove barriers that prevent person from working
3. Eligibility is based on client choice	Eligibility determination
 IPS developed for people with mental health conditions (including cooccurring substance use disorders) Desire to work helps people overcome barriers to employment Practitioners assume that people will benefit from IPS services 	 Person must have documented disability/impairment that presents barriers/impediment to secure, retain, or advance in employment VR counselor presumes that an applicant can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of VR services
4. Individual preferences are honored	Comprehensive assessment
 Services are based on person's preferences, skills, & experiences IPS specialist records job history, education, goals, supports, etc. in career profile (guides work plan) 	• VR counselor encourages & facilitates exploration of the (eligible) person's strengths, resources, capabilities, priorities, concerns, abilities, interests, & informed choice
